FOREWORD

No problem in recent years has attracted more attention than that of drug use and abuse. The situation has been publicized by the President of the United States, has been the subject of international conferences and cooperation, and has been a source of agonized re-appraisal and discussion by the average citizen. The ERIC Clearinghouse on Teacher Education, recognizing the fact, has pulled together a bibliography of 215 entries dealing with drug education. This bibliography has been derived from the documents reported in the ERIC system. It is our belief that pre- and in-service educational personnel should be among the best informed citizens concerning the nature of drug abuse and alternative solutions. In contact regularly with students, educational personnel are in a unique position to gain the confidence of the yough and lead them to sources of factual data and sound ideas. Lacking such sound guidance, the young often are enslaved by the knowledge and ideas of the peer group. It is our hope that this bibliography then can be the source of reading material for educational personnel who then can fulfill the educators role: helping children and youth develop their value system based on the best ideas and information possible, and also upon the wisdom of the society as represented in the literature.

You may do further research on this topic by checking issues of Research in Education (RIE) and Current Index to Journals in Education (CIJE). Both RIE and CIJE use the same descriptors (index terms). Documents in RIE are listed in blocks according to the clearinghouse code letters which processed them, beginning with the ERIC Clearinghouse on Adult Education (AC) and ending with the ERIC Clearinghouse on Vocational and Technical Education (VT). The clearinghouse code letters, which are listed at the beginning of RIE, appear opposite the ED number at the beginning of each entry. "SP" (School Personnel) designates documents processed by the ERIC Clearinghouse on Teacher Education.

In addition to using the ERIC Thesaurus, RIE, CIJE, and various ERIC indexes, you will find it helpful to be placed on the mailing list of the ERIC clearinghouses which are likely to abstract and index as well as develop publications pertinent to your needs and interests. The newsletters are provided on a complimentary basis on request to the individual clearinghouses.

For readers uncertain how to use ERIC capabilities effectively, we recommend the following materials which are available in microfiche and hardcopy through the ERIC Document Reproduction Service: (a) How To Conduct a Search Through ERIC, ED 036 499, microfiche $.65, hardcopy $3.29; (b) Instructional Materials on Educational Resources Information Center (ERIC). Part Two. Information Sheets on ERIC, ED 043 580, microfiche $.65; hardcopy $3.29. Item "b" is available as a complimentary item, while the supply lasts, from this Clearinghouse. The last page of this publication is an "ERIC Order Blank" which gives instructions for ordering materials and can be used for ordering.

ABSTRACT

This bibliography consists of a total of 215 entries dealing with drug education, including curriculum guides, and drawn from documents in the ERIC system. There are two sections, the first containing 130 annotated citations of documents and journal articles, and the second containing 85 citations of journal articles without annotations, but with the index terms used in the system. (MBM)

ERIC DESCRIPTORS

To expand a bibliography using ERIC, descriptors or search terms are used. To use a descriptor: (1) Look up the descriptor in the SUBJECT INDEX of monthly, semi-annual, or annual issue of Research in Education (RIE). (2) Beneath the descriptors you will find title(s) of documents. Decide which title(s) you wish to pursue. (3) Note the "ED" number beside the title. (4) Look up the "ED" number in the "DOCUMENT RESUME SECTION" of the appropriate issue of RIE. With the number you will find a summary of the document and often the document's cost in microfiche and/or hardcopy. (5) Repeat the above procedure, if desired, for other issues of RIE and for other descriptors. (6) For information about how to order ERIC documents, turn to the back pages of RIE. (7) Indexes and annotations of journal articles can be found in Current Index to Journals in Education by following the same procedure. Periodical articles cannot be secured through ERIC.

TOPIC: "Drug Education: An Annotated Bibliography."

Abood, Leo G. "The Biochemistry of Psychoactive Drugs." Paper presented at the National Association of Student Personnel Administrators Drug Education Conference, November 7-8, 1966, Washington, D.C. 7p.
ED 030 132

The effects of psychochemicals on the higher central nervous system, and recent theories regarding drug addiction are discussed, together with the chemistry involved in nerve cell activity and the problems of drug synthesis and drug use by young people.

Alexander, Michael. "San Francisco Tries a Crash Pad," School Management, 14:29; April 1970.

An account is given of clinics in four public high schools which offer medical and psychological aid to students who use drugs.

American School Health Association. Teaching About Drugs. A Curriculum Guide, K-12. Second Edition. Kent, Ohio: the Association; Washington, D.C.: Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association, 1971. 215p. Available from American School Health Association, 107 South Depeyster Street, Kent, Ohio 44240; publisher's price: $4.00.
ED 055 882. Not available from EDRS.

This guide seeks to define and emphasize the interrelationship of drug use and abuse to a comprehensive program of health education as well as total health.

Amo, Michael F., and John R. Bittner. "College Student Attitudes Toward Marijuana," College Student Survey, 4:52-54; Fall 1970.
EJ 023 934

A questionnaire attempts to determine attitudes in an effort to learn how students perceive the danger, or the lack of it, in the use of marijuana. Tabulated responses are presented, and while no conclusions are drawn, several interpretations are suggested.

Aubrey, Roger F. "Observations on the Current Drug Scene," Journal of the National Association of College Admissions Counselors, 15: 24-26; November 1970.
EJ 029 354

As an extension of a total society, the drug scene is beyond the efforts of a single institution such as the schools to restrict and restrain it. Presented is a ten point program summarizing the key elements which can and probably should be implemented to get the schools and the community together on the right track.

Bailey, Gerald Douglass. "Perceptions and Attitudes of Administrative and Counseling Staffs Toward Drug Use and Abuse in Nebraska Junior Colleges." February 1971. 41p.
ED 050 708

Topics covered by this study include the kinds of students involved, the extent of the problem on Nebraska junior college campuses, factors that influence students to engage in drug use, personal opinions about the effects of drugs, and suggestions for solving the problem.

Baltimore City Public Schools. Drug Abuse Education Program. Baltimore: the Schools, 1969. 58p.
ED 038 660

A drug abuse education program was implemented in grades 5, 7, and 9, and the unit plans outline the curriculum content and learning activities of each of the three grades. Particular stress is placed on teaching young people how to make wise decisions.

Banik, Sambhu, N. "Drugs and Youth--Its Impact on the Community." Paper presented at World Mental Health Assembly, November 17-21, 1969, Washington, D.C. 15p.
ED 036 835

The increasing abuse of drugs by youth and the resulting impact on the community are discussed. The reasons causing this behavior are examined and the need for solutions to the emotional and psychological problem is stressed.

Barrins, Phyllis C. "How to Face Up to Drug Abuse in Your Schools and Your Community," American School Board Journal, 158:17-20, 26; August 1970.
EJ 023 947

The author recommends that school boards and communities recognize the imminence of drug abuse and that they set up programs in drug education.

Barter, James T., and Paul H. Werme. Social and Psychological Factors of Drug Abuse Among Children and Adolescents. Sacramento, Calif.: Sacramento County Medical Health Services[1970]. 40p.
ED 036 824

This paper is devoted to a selected review of literature on drug abuse and dependence among children and adolescents. It is divided into seven sections, each giving information on studies on a particular drug, with a final section discussing ways in which the problem can be dealt with.

Bloland, Paul A., and Daniel B. Nowak. "Student Drug Use. An Informal Survey of Institutional Policies and Practices, Summer, 1967." Los Angeles: University of Southern California, November 1967. 5p. ED 031 166

This paper reports on a survey to ascertain what positions colleges and universities had taken with regard to the use of drugs by students. All the institutions questioned indicated that they were aware of the urgent need to develop approaches for dealing with the problem, and were attempting to acquaint students with the problems involved in illegal drug use.

Blum, Richard H. "Nature and Extent of the Problem." Paper presented at the National Association of Student Personnel Administrators Drug Education Conference, November 7-8, 1966, Washington, D.C. 10p.
ED 030 133

Patterns of drug use on college campuses are studied and characteristics of drug diffusion are presented. Other aspects of drug use which are examined include (a) drugs as a source of mystical and religous feeling; (b) drugs as a creative and aesthetic experience; (c) drugs as an escape from the constant obligations of society and from computer reality; (d) drugs as a way to induce feelings of invulnerability; (e) drugs as a reflection of the new morality; (f) drugs as a mild form of rebellion; and (g) drugs as a source of fun.

Blum, Richard H. "Drugs and Personal Values." Paper presented at the National Association of Student Personnel Administrators Drug Education Conference, November 7-8, 1966, Washington, D.C. 9p.

The author discusses the expanding use of drugs for both medical and religious purposes, and outlines many problems encountered in studying student drug use. He feels that the solution lies in education and dialogue between those who would solve the drug use problem and those who do not see it as a problem.

Borgatta, Edgar F. "Some Problems in the Study of Drug Use Among College Students." Paper presented at National Association of Student Personnel Administrators Drug Education Conference, November 7-8, 1966, Washington, D.C. 6p.
ED 023 122

The author presents information from a study made on the University of Wisconsin, Madison campus, concerning the nonintellectual factors in academic success, and recommends that administrators should consider drug use on campus in terms of its place among other problems.

Boyce, George A. Alcohol and American Indian Students. Washington, D.C.: Bureau of Indian Affairs, September 1965. 45p.
ED 023 520

This document was prepared to acquaint Indian students with social concepts of alcohol outside their cultural experience. It is designed primarily as a curriculum guide for teachers.

Brayer, Herbert O. "Drug Abuse--A School Disaster and a Problem for Guidance." Paper presented at the American Personnel and Guidance Association Convention, April 2, 1969, Las Vegas. 12p.
ED 030 930

The first part of this paper is concerned with a plan for working with the secondary school student who has been "busted," and the second part presents a new approach to dealing with drug abuse.

Brooks, Gary D., and Bonnie S. Brooks. The Literature on Drug Abuse. El Paso: University of Texas, 1970. 25p.
ED 043 041

This is a compilation of much of the literature on the current drug situation which has appeared since 1960. It is divided into two general sections--books and pamphlets, and articles, and there are approximately 370 entries.

Brotman, Richard. "A Mental Hygienist Looks at the Current Values and Changing Needs of Youth." Final Draft. Paper presented at the Conference of Youth, August 1966, Meriden, Conn. 14p.
ED 015 483

This speech discusses the different kinds of drug users, and kinds of drug use, and also recommends a greater willingness on the part of adults to understand youthful attitudes, as well as an objective understanding of the relationship between drug users and society.

Bruyn, Henry B. "Drugs on the College Campus," Journal of School Health, 40:91-97; February 1970.
EJ 015 391

The article discusses the use of hallucinogens as being incompatible with academic success. The most effective mechanism for behavior modification is through health education from kindergarten through high school, to produce a population with different attitudes on drugs.

Bryd, Oliver E. Medical Readings on Drug Abuse. Reading, Mass.: Addison-Wesley Publishing, 1970. 286p.
ED 040 071. Not available from EDRS.

The document contains summaries of over 150 articles in recent medical and psychiatric literature. Topics covered include the effects of drugs, drugs used in medicine, psychiatric relationships, treatment, and professional viewpoints.

Chapple, P.A.L. "The Treatment of Addiction," Biology and Human Affairs, 35:30-35; Summer 1970.
EJ 026 495

The article describes the sociological and medical treatment appropriate to young drug experimenters and addicts. It discusses the role of teachers, probabtion officers, school medical services, and general practitioners; indicates the need for a long treatment period; and considers whether dependence is a disease or delinquent behavior.

Christian, Floyd T. Alcohol. . .Narcotics Education. A Handbook for Teachers. Tallahassee, Fla.: State Department of Education, 1967.
ED 016 629. Not available from EDRS.

This handbook is intended to supply factual data concerning the uses of alcohol and narcotics and is primarily directed to K-12 programs. The second section deals with narcotics and discusses the harmful and helpful effects of drugs, drug addiction, and related societal problems.

Cohen, Allan Y. "LSD and the Student: Approaches to Educational Strategies." Paper presented at the National Association of Student Personnel Administrators Drug Education Conference, February 26-28, 1967, Denver, Col. 12p.
ED 024 968

The author discusses the three basic functions of the college in relation to the drug abuse problem: the therapeutic, the preventative, and the developmental. The principles of successful drug education are outlined and colleges are advised to examine their curriculum and make changes which would encourage personal growth.

Cohen, Allan Y. "Open Letter to Policy Makers," Compact, 4:16-17; June 1970.
EJ 022 935

The article urges the support of legislation oriented toward a public health approach, investment in credible educational efforts, and programs developing alternatives to drug use.

Colorado State College. An Experimental Workshop in the Emotional Problems of College Students. Report of the Annual Workshop in Emotional Problems of College Students. Greeley, Col.: the College, July 1967. 355p.
ED 022 232

Presentations and discussion from the workshop are given, including one section on drug use.

Conte, Anthony E., and Eugene R. Mason. Drug Abuse: A Challenge for Education. Trenton: New Jersey Urban Schools Development Council, August 1970. 197p.
ED 043 969

This report provides comprehensive information regarding drug abuse. Four chapters cover the following topics: a description of drugs and the potential psychic and physical dangers inherent in their abuse; the reasons offered by drug users for their generally unacceptable social behavior; drug abuse education and prevention programs; and facilities, programs and treatment methods available.

Crookston, Burns B. "Implications of Drug Usage for Higher Education, Student Development Staff Papers Number One." Paper presented at the South Dakota College Public Relations Association Convention, July 19, 1968. 19p.
ED 038 689

This paper discusses the implication of drug usage for higher education and considers the related problems, as well as the reasons why students use drugs. Various responses which can be used by the colleges are also suggested.

Dade County Public Schools. Eleven Lessons in Drug Abuse Education for Use in Junior High School Science. Miami, Fla.: the Public Schools, 1970. 102p.
ED 052 943

Eleven lessons for use in junior high school science deal with the use of tobacco, alcohol, and narcotics and their effect on the health of individuals, and ways to combat their ill effects.

Daniels, Rose M. "Drug Education Begins Before Kindergarten: The Glen Cove, N.Y. Pilot Program," Journal of School Health, 40:242-48; May 1970.
EJ 021 224

Based on the premise that a child entering school has already been "drug educated" to some extent, this program is aimed at parents of pre-schoolers as well as at all levels, from kindergarten through grade 12.

DeFleur, Lois B., and Gerald R. Garrett. "Dimensions of Marijuana Usage in a Land Grant University," Journal of Counseling Psychology, 17:468-75; September 1970.
EJ 025 353

Users and nonusers of various types are compared, and their beliefs about the nature and effects of marijuana are summarized. Opinions concerning changes in laws related to the drug are explored. The paper summarizes the major findings from a number of studies on the student use of the drug from other compuses in the United States.

Demos, George D. "Counseling with the Drug Abuser." Long Beach: California State College [1969]. 8p.

The author discusses a self-evaluative questionnaire by which counselors can judge their readiness to deal with youthful drug abusers by attempting to change their self-concept. Some suggestions are offered by effecting a desirable change, and the use and dangers of confrontation as a therapeutic tool are discussed.

Demos, George D., and others. Drug Abuse and You. Moravia, N.Y.: Chronicle Guidance Publications, 1968. 31p.
ED 024 098. Not available from EDRS.

This publication is intended for college and high school students, parents, teachers, and administrators, to stimulate cooperative efforts to understand the drug culture. A list of suggested readings and information on primary substances which may be abused are included.

Doctor, Ronald M., and Nicholas A. Sieveking. "A Survey of Attitudes Toward Drug Addiction." Paper presented at American Psychological Association, September 3-8, 1970, Miami Beach, Fla. 18p.
ED 043 053

This survey assessed public attitudes about drug addiction, addicts, and treatment. The data is presented and a concluding discussion elaborates the findings and attempts some interpretation of them.

Dohner, V. Alton. "Drugs Are Not the Problem," Compact, 4:20-24; June 1970.
EJ 022 456

The article defines drug abuse, identifies drug abusers, and emphasizes drug education in the family living context, as well as offering alternatives to drug use.

Dolins, Robert. "Increasing Use of Drugs by Our Youth." Paper presented at National Association of Training Schools and Juvenile Agencies, June 10, 1969, Boston, Mass. 17p.
ED 038 654

The author begins with a general look at the drug abuse problem and discusses two approaches for dealing with it: (a) treatment of those already drug dependent; and (b) prevention of others from becoming drug dependent.

Dovner, Louis B. "A Community Approach to Drug Abuse Education," Journal of School Health, 40:417-19; October 1970.
EJ 026 479

This article describes the community programs initiated in Rockland, Massachusetts, to deal with drug abuse.

"Drug Abuse and What To Do About It: An Assessment," Compact, 4:4-11; June 1970.
EJ 022 452

The author discusses the role played by family, school church, community, and government in drug abuse education.

"Drug Education in the States," Special Supplement, Compact, 4:21-28; December 1970.
EJ 029 853

The supplement includes a list of national agencies supporting drug education, the results of a survey dealing with drug education for teachers, a discussion of the Drug Abuse Education Act of 1970, and a state-by-state survey of drug education programs.

"Drugs and the Educational Antidote: Programs Give the Facts--Without Strings," Nation's Schools, 85:49-52, 127; April 1970.
EJ 019 584

The features of specific drug education programs are outlines. The most effective programs are characterized as being frank, avoiding moralistic positions in favor of scientific ones, and providing opportunities for student interaction.

"Drugs and the Schools: Two Case Studies," Educational Product Report, 3:4-15; April 1970.
EJ 023 949

Research teams visited an urban and a suburban school to get a firsthand look at the drug problem, what the schools were doing about it, and what methods and materials they were using.

"The Drug Scene," School Progress, 39:46-47; May 1970.
EJ 019 588

Suggestions are made on how the school and the community can improve drug education programs.

Elliott, Robert. "Narcotics: A New Area of Secondary School Responsibility," North Central Association Quarterly, 44:325-34; Spring 1970.
EJ 022 988

It is up to the schools to educate their students in the harmful effects of drug use and to provide them with attractive alternative for enjoying themselves. If these measures are taken, the appeal of drugs will fade.

Entwistle, O.H., Jr. "Community Programs and the Underlying Problem," Compact, 4:41-43; June 1970.
EJ 022 462

The article defines the drug problem as a community problem and advocates total community interest and involvement, including youth, in mobilizing resources for solutions to the problem.

Fort, Joel. "Social Problems of Drug Use and Drug Policies." San Francisco: San Francisco State College [1968]. 14p.
ED 030 913

The author maintains that the social and legal policies which control and prevent the use of mind-altering drugs are the main cause of the social problems arising from their use, and he suggests reforms to remedy the situation.

Geis, Gilbert, and others. Addicts in the Classroom: The Impact of an Experimental Narcotics Education Program on Junior High School Pupils. Los Angeles: California State College, Economic Youth Opportunity Association, and Southern California Research Institute, March 1969. 305p.
ED 042 182

In an experimental narcotics education program which was developed in two junior high schools, former addicts met with health education teachers in a series of workshops and participated in a number of ways in classroom presentations regarding drugs.

Geis, Gilbert, and others. Ex-Addicts as Streetworkers. The Boyle Heights Narcotics Prevention Project. Los Angeles: California State College, Economic Youth Opportunity Association, and Southern California Research Institute, June 1969. 153p.

This program examined what happens when ex-heroin addicts are hired to assist practicing addicts and potential drug users. The report discusses what the project was about, what it accomplished, and how, with indications of its strengths and weaknesses.

Gelinas, Mary V. "Classroom Drug Scene," American Education, 6:3-5; November 1970.
EJ 028 393

A program to help youth kick the drug habit is presented.

Guide to Films (16mm) About the Use of Dangerous Drugs, Narcotics, Alcohol, and Tobacco. Alexandria, Va.: Serina Press, 1971. 61p. Available from Serina Press, 70 Kennedy Street, Alexandria, Va. 22305. Publisher's Price: $2.95.
ED 050 590. Not available from EDRS.

About 230 films and 60 filmstrips dealing with drugs, narcotics, alcohol and tobacco are synopsized, and the length, year of release, and source are listed.

Harris, Eileen M. "A Measurement of Alienation in College Student Marijuana Users and Non-Users." Carbondale: University of Southern Illinois [1969]. 10p.
ED 043 059

The study was designed to elicit demographic data, determine the extent of experience with marijuana, and measure alienation. Conclusions indicated that marijuana users are more alienated than non-users, alienation is increasing among college youth, and marijuana usage has increased among college students.

Herzog, Elizabeth and others. "Drug Use Among the Young: As Teenagers See It," Children, 17:207-12; November-December 1970.
EJ 029 950

The article reports the responses of 250 students to a Children's Bureau inquiry on teenage drug usage. Youth were asked how teenagers feel about the use of various kinds of drugs, what makes some teenagers use drugs and keeps others from using them, and what adults should do about teenage drug use.

Hinckley, Robert G., and others. "Nonmedical Drug Use Among College Student Psychiatric Patients," Journal of the American College Health Association, 18:333-41; June 1970.
EJ 022 444

Results are presented on nonmedical drug usage by college students, based on an analysis of 451 questionnaires.

Hogan, Robert, and others. "Personality Correlates of Undergraduate Marijuana Use." Paper presented at the Eastern Psychological Association Convention, April 10-12, 1969, Philadelphia, Pa. 15p.
ED 035 899

The purpose of this study was to investigate the personality factors underlying the use of marijuana in colleges, and involved the completion of a biographical questionnaire and the California Psychological Inventory by 148 students at two universities.

Hollander, Charles, ed. Background Papers on Student Drug Involvement. Washington, D.C.: National Student Association, 1967. 169p.
Publisher's Price: $3.00
ED 022 214. Not available from EDRS

Part one of this volume presents the National Student Association's position on student drug involvement. Part two includes papers presented at the National Association of Student Personnel Administrators Drug Education Conference, dealing with drugs in the historical, sociological, medical, psychological, and legal aspects.

Hurster, Madeline, and others. "A Health Fair," Journal of School Health, 40:539-41; December 1970.
EJ 029 927

Described is a "task force" approach by community health education majors to present information on drugs, alcohol, and smoking to students in an East Harlem junior high school. Impact on the students is uncertain, but the presentations were well received.

Joly, Roxee W. "A High School Principal Looks at Drug Abuse," Compact, 4:37-39; June 1970.
EJ 022 460

The author calls for efforts to make curriculum meet student goal needs and to involve as many students, teachers, parents, and community members as possible in anti-drug abuse work.

Kanun, Clara, and David Reinertsen. "An Evaluation of an Experimental Program on Alcoholism and Other Drug Abuse Counseling." St. Paul: University of Minnesota, August 1970. 53p.
ED 043 066

This document presents the contents of the courses and the problems encountered, and also identifies the primary goals as (a) training counselors for the rehabilitation of alcohol and drug dependents; and (b) informing a broad sweep of professionals in social work, education, nursing, and personnel work.

Keniston, Kenneth. "Drug Use and Student Values." Paper presented at National Association of Student Personnel Administrators Drug Education Conference, November 7-8, 1966, Washington, D.C. 11p.
ED 024 071

The author examines the different values which either encourage or discourage drug use by students, and argues the importance in counseling of acknowledging that drug use is not a medical but an existential, philosophical and ethical issue.

King, Francis W. "Users and Nonusers of Marijuana: Some Attitudinal Behavioral Correlates," Journal of the American College Health Association, 18:213-17; February 1970.
EJ 019 583

The author contends that drug users tend to oppose external control, view marijuana as a relaxing agent, favor legalization of the drug, and feel that they are better informed on the effects of the drug than nonusers.

Kitzinger, Angela, and Patricia J. Hill. Drug Abuse. A Source Book and Guide for Teachers. Sacramento: California State Department of Education, 1967. 137p.
ED 016 630

This sourcebook contains information to help teachers give instruction about drugs and discourage drug abuse. The information has been drawn from medical, legal, governmental and other sources, and is in three major sections, dealing with dangerous drugs and the people who become dependent on them, legislative and other efforts to control drug abuse, and educational problems concerning drug abuse.

Kuehn, John L. "The Student Drug User and His Family," Journal of College Student Personnel, 11:409-13; November 1970.
EJ 028 396

Despite the misery and hostility of young drug users, they still seem to be searching for honest, confirming adults. The presence of adequately staffed college mental health units as well as trained and concerned professionals in the private sector to supply consultation and education to faculty and administrators are no longer a luxury but a necessity.

Kurtzman, David H. "Leadership by Local School Boards," Compact, 4:34-35; June 1970.
EJ 022 458

Major responsibility for changing student attitudes towards drugs must be assumed by local school boards through school drug education programs with widespread community support.

Ladd, Edward T. "Pills for Classroom Peace?" Saturday Review, 53:66-68, 81-83; November 21, 1970.
EJ 027 805

The use of relatively new medicines to induce children to follow accepted standards of behavior is discussed.

Laing, James M. Drug Education--Use and Abuse. A Resource Bulletin. Pleasant Hill, Calif.: Contra Costa County Dept. of Education, 1970. 326p.
ED 037 766

The purpose of this bulletin is to identify available resources relative to drug education, and organize them into a form which can be used to pinpoint a particular service which can be addressed to a particular need.

ABOUT ERIC

The Educational Resources Information Center (ERIC) forms a nationwide information system established by the U.S. Office of Education, designed to serve and advance American education. Its basic objective is to provide ideas and information on significant current documents (e.g., research reports, articles, theoretical papers, program descriptions, published and unpublished conference papers, newsletters, and curriculum guides or studies) and to publicize the availability of such documents. Central ERIC is the term given to the function of the U.S. Office of Education, which provides policy, coordination, training funds, and general services to 19 clearinghouses in the information system. Each clearinghouse focuses its activities on a separate subject-matter area; acquires, evaluates, abstracts, and indexes documents; processes many significant documents into the ERIC system; and publicizes available ideas and information to the education community through its own publications, those of Central ERIC, and other educational media.

TEACHER EDUCATION AND ERIC

The ERIC Clearinghouse on Teacher Education, established June 20, 1968, is sponsored by three professional groups--the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education (fiscal agent); the Association of Teacher Educators, a national affiliate of the National Education Association; and Instruction and Professional Development, National Education Association. It is located at One Dupont Circle, Washington, D.C. 20036.

SCOPE OF CLEARINGHOUSE ACTIVITIES

Users of this guide are encouraged to send to the ERIC Clearinghouse on Teacher Education documents related to its scope, a statement of which follows:

> The Clearinghouse is responsible for research reports, curriculum descriptions, theoretical papers, addresses, and other materials relative to the preparation of school personnel (nursery, elementary, secondary, and supporting school personnel); the preparation and development of teacher educators; and the profession of teaching. The scope includes the preparation and continuing development of all instructional personnel, their functions and roles. While the major interest of the Clearinghouse is professional preparation and practice in America, it also is interested in international aspects of the field.

The scope also guides the Clearinghouse's Advisory and Policy Council and staff in decision making relative to the commissioning of monographs, bibliographies, and directories. The scope is a flexible guide in the idea and information needs of those concerned with pre- and in-service preparation of school personnel and the profession of teaching.
